Listen to the amazing story of the boy from Eisenach, Germany who changed the world of music forever. Hear selections from some of Bach's most well-known and popular works. Meet his family and see the places where Bach created his musical world.

Joining Organist Helen Hollenbeck, are soprano Ruth Register, Violinist Mary Rowell, and Baroque Trumpeter Murray Zenk. A Free Will Offering will be accepted. 100% of the proceeds will go to the "Imagine No Malaria" Project.

Coming Soon to the Elsinore Theatre...

The Crowd (1928)
April 16 • 7:00 pm

An ordinary young man (James Murray) full of dreams and drive comes to the big city and must try to navigate its brutal avenues. With a new wife (Eleanor Broadman) and then a child, can he survive the modern city's deadening heartlessness? Prescient about urban dehumanization, what King Vidor brought to the silver screen in The Crowd was pure genius, employing techniques way ahead of their time. 94 minutes.

"Classic drama... One of the greatest silent films; holds up beautifully." —Leonard Maltin

"A silent masterpiece which turns a realistically caustic eye on the illusionism of the American dream. The performances are absolutely flawless, and astonishing location work in the busy New York streets (including a giddy tour of Coney Island on a blind date) lends a gritty ring of truth to [t]his intensely human odyssey." —Time Out

The Boy Mayor (1914) & The Freshman (1925)
April 30 • 7:00 pm

Among the thousands of motion pictures in the archive of the Oregon Historical Society is The Boy Mayor, a 1914 silent film made by Universal dramatizing Portland's real-life "boy mayor." During the Progressive Era, American cities experimented with methods to control "vice," and Progressive Portlanders established the Newsboys' Home to rescue boys in danger of delinquency. To raise funds for the home, a city-wide contest was launched with "Boy Mayor" candidates chosen by Portland public schools. Starring Eugene J. Rich, the actual "Boy Mayor" of Portland.

This film is generously loaned by the Oregon Historical Society, Moving Image Archive – with preservation funds provided by the National Film Preservation Foundation.

In The Freshman, an over-eager country lad (Harold Lloyd) tries to be popular on campus, but his self-conscious attempts are instead a source of humor. Though Harold is merely the team water boy, the college's big football game of the year provides an opportunity for success, if Harold can find a way — as his love interest, Peggy (Jobyna Ralston) advises — to just be himself. The Freshman became the model for many sports movies since.
