Columbia River Theatre Organ Society

First Pipes at The Hollywood Theatre!

When the Hollywood Theatre opened in 1926, it had a Wurlitzer Unit Orchestra to provide live music for the silent films of the day. Following the introduction of “talkies”, that instrument was removed to a skating rink and then a private home. The Columbia River Theatre Organ Society, using a memorial donation from a member, took on the job of returning a similar instrument to the historic venue.

Members designed an instrument that started life using recorded (“sampled”) sounds and which could grow to include actual pipes as time and budget allowed. It began as a “Virtual Theater Pipe Organ” (VTPO) which speaks from the original Hollywood pipe chambers, providing extremely realistic sound.

In January CRTOS member volunteers began installing the first rank of real pipes, a long-awaited step toward bringing back the full 1926 experience. The Beverly Ruth Nelson Memorial Theatre Organ’s first air-powered rank is a set of 18 diaphones on two chests, located on the wall behind the theatre’s screen. Diaphones, which resemble miniature foghorns in design, provide a powerful bass which will leave more headroom for the VTPO’s sound system, leading to even better sound.

Like many of the remaining theatre organs, this one has parts from various places and periods. These diaphones were built by Wurlitzer for installation in the T & D Theatre, Oakland, California in 1916. Stories persist that the T&D instrument was moved to the UA theatre in Berkeley, CA in 1932 at the insistence of Mary Pickford... Pickford starred in the film that opened the UA but would not appear at the opening ceremony if there wasn’t a Wurlitzer organ.

Remaining items before the diaphones can be heard include a blower and supporting wiring and electronics to drive the chest magnets. Some work will require help from contractors. Additional ranks will be installed in the building’s original pipe chambers, which need restoration. Over time, pipes will displace sampled ranks until the instrument is mostly air-powered, like the Hollywood’s original organ.

Monthly Board Meeting 4th Tuesday of the month

All members are encouraged to attend the monthly board meeting. It is held the 4th Tuesday of every month at Izzy's Restaurant located at the Gateway Shopping Center (1307 NE 102nd. Ave, Portland, OR). Meeting begins at 7 pm. No-host dinner at 6:30.

The Columbia River Theatre Organ Society is a non-profit, educational organization dedicated to the preservation of the theatre organ and its music.

President's Corner

Happy new Year! Now that all of the hectic holidays are behind us its time to dive into activities for the new year. As you see in this issue, things are progressing with the pipe organ installation at the Hollywood Theater. If the Hollywood stays on schedule with plans to repair the roof and organ chambers, we should be able to begin installing the remainder of the pipe organ sometime this summer. For those of you with time on your hands and would like to help with this project, please contact me via email at jgnordwall@comcast.net.

We have planned some additional activities for this Spring. As an educational, non profit organization, CRTOS needs to have some educational events. We are planning a series of three playing workshops for this Spring. The theme is "Looking for new playing ideas". The workshops will be held on Saturday mornings from 10AM until noon and each workshop will be presented on a different brand of organ. Martin Ellis, Donna Parker and I will present the workshops. There is a $10 nominal charge for each workshop. A no host lunch could be arranged at a restaurant convenient to the workshop locations.

The first workshop will be February 21 at my home, 7221 SW 13th Drive. We live in the neighborhood above the Burlingame Fred Meyer convenient to both I-5 and Barbur Blvd. The instrument is a Rodgers 321- C that was brought in for the ATOS Summer Youth Camp last summer. Its a good example of a three manual analogue organ from the 1970s. Our music room can comfortably accommodate about 20 people, so please email your reservation to me by February 10th.

ATOS president Ken Double will be visiting us during a trip to the Pacific Northwest in late February. Tentative activities in our area include attending our board meeting on Feb. 24 and meeting with members of the Oregon Chapter. He'll also visit other theatre organ venues in our area. next he goes to Seattle to meet with the Puget Sound Theatre Organ Society and the Seattle Theatre Group, operators of the Seattle Paramount Theatre. His few days in the Pacific Northwest will be filled. We were hoping to have him play a mini concert at the Scottish Rite, but that will have to be in the future.

If you have not renewed your membership yet, to quote Larry the Cable Guy, "Get 'er done!"

Don't forget the open console at Cleveland High School on the first Friday of each month. Bring your music and other musical friends to have the unique experience of playing a real theatre pipe organ.
