Upcoming at The Hollywood Theatre

The Mark of Zorro (1920)
Saturday, July 25, 2015, 2 pm

The Mark of Zorro tells the story of Don Diego Vega, the outwardly foppish son of a wealthy ranchero Don Alejandro in the old Spanish California of the early 19th century.

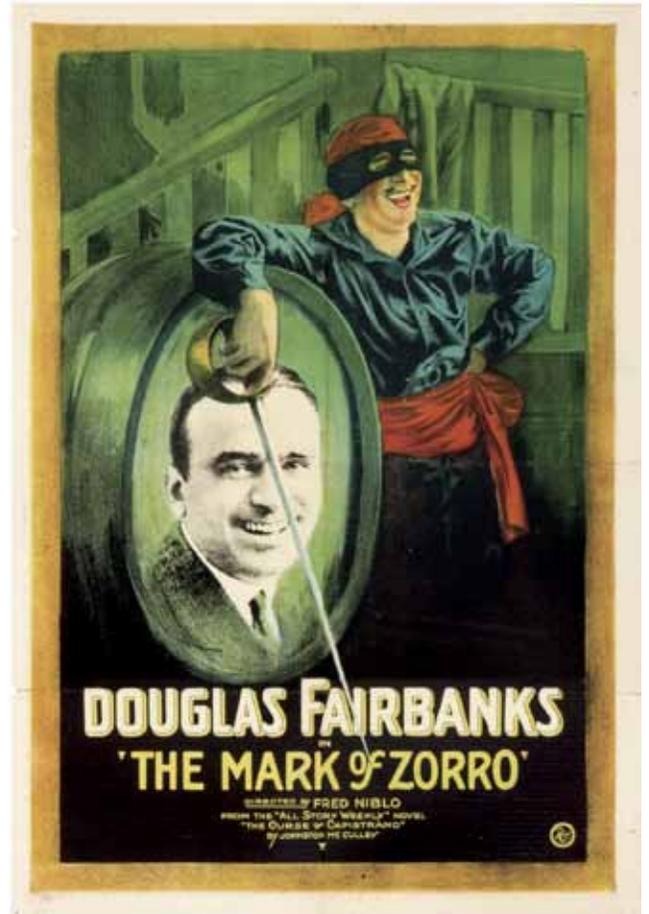

Seeing the mistreatment of the peons by rich landowners and the oppressive colonial government, Don Diego, who is not as effete as he pretends, has taken the identity of the masked Robin Hood-like rogue Señor Zorro (“Mr. Fox”), champion of the people, who appears out of nowhere to protect them from the corrupt administration of Governor Alvarado, his henchman the villainous Captain Juan Ramon and the brutish Sergeant Pedro Gonzales (Noah Beery, Wallace Beery’s older half-brother).

With his sword flashing and an athletic sense of humor, Zorro scars the faces of evildoers with his mark, “Z”.

When not in the disguise of Zorro, dueling and rescuing peons, Don Diego courts the beautiful Lolita Pulido with bad magic tricks and worse manners. She cannot stand him. Lolita is also courted by Captain Ramon; and by the dashing Zorro, whom she likes.

In the end, when Lolita’s family is jailed, Don Diego throws off his masquerade, whips out his sword, wins over the soldiers to his side, forces Governor Alvarado to abdicate, and wins the hand of Lolita, who is delighted to discover that her effeminate suitor, Diego, is actually the dashing hero.

Live Unit Orchestra accompaniment by Dean Lemire.

Updates from The Hollywood Theatre

Hollywood Theatre undergoes major restoration

If you see cranes and men at work around the Hollywood Theatre this summer, don’t worry! The Theatre is still open and offering great film experiences as usual. But we’re also taking a major step in our mission to preserve our historic theater, undergoing a $265,000 facade and roof restoration. This project is made possible through the generous support of the Kinsman Foundation, Pacific Power Foundation, ESCO Foundation, Oregon Community Foundation, and Collins Foundation, as well as through the ongoing support of our board of directors, members, and donors. Thank you for your support!
